

EPISODE #207

[illegible]

Reflect

Emma Mae shared life-defining moments when she felt like the “girl in the middle,” times when she had to choose between operating out of fear and worry, or out of trust in the promises of God. Have there been any situations in your life when you felt like the “girl in the middle”?

Scripture is filled with promises that God is always near, inviting us to rely on Him to get through any trial we may face. How does having the hope that God is our ever-present help allow us live joyfully?

Elisa brought up how God, full of compassion, grieves with us. Take time to think about some of your hardest moments from this past year. Can you see glimpses of God’s compassion during those times?

Who are some women in your life who have come alongside you in love to be fellow witnesses to your grief? Spend time in prayer to thank God for those relationships.

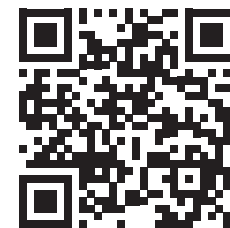

Pray

Lord, full of perfect love and truth, You are with me in this darkness I feel. Your strength sustains me. The power of Your word silences all my fears. When my instinct is to hide, please help guide my spirit to run towards You, my perfect refuge in the storm.

More to Explore

Whether you’re praising God for His grace or wrestling with your faith, God will always meet you with His unchanging love and strength. Be encouraged to live the unfailing presence of the One who deeply cares for all His daughters with this 10-day devotional: Cast Your Cares, from God Hears Her.

SCAN THE QR CODE TO START READING

